Yesterday was a quiet day in the Legislature. The parliamentary mill worked so hard on Tuesday that the attention of the house; and notwithstanding the fact that permission of the house was asked to consider in committee of the whole some bills which had only been before the stand-available grid was used up by five o'clock and the house adjourned till today. While there is a large amount of legislation still to be taken up, much of it is not sufficiently advanced.

able gentlemen opposite are tired, I am willing to make the adjournment."

Mr. Rogers: "I would assure the honorable gentleman that no one on this side of the house at all tired."

Mr. Bureau: "That gives me new vim and new courage to speak."

That Mr. Bureau had plenty of vim and courage left was quite evident, because he continued his speech for another two hours.

Laval Member Opposite. Charles Wilson, member of the Laval, who followed him, got the floor at 2:40 p.m. and continued to speak until five o'clock.

He made part of his speech in French and part in English. Mr. Wilson also indicated when he sat down that he was prepared for another speech later.

He was quoted from the authorities dealing with the gradual development of the naval defence idea in the Dominion. The naval defence act now on the statute books, he said, was the only one under which the government could properly act.

The government proposals, he said, did not meet the aspirations of the Canadian people. Neither did they meet the views of the admiralty. The counter-bution of three Dreadnoughts would add to the burden of the British taxpayer. Finally he argued that the contribution of $10,000,000 was unconstitutional and the government had no authority to make the gift without consulting the people.

Heads Long Article. Laval Member, Qu'Appelle, who made the next speech, starting by referring to an article in the Ottawa Morning Citizen, criticising the attitude of the opposition. He was greeted with cries of "read it."

Thomson said he was quite willing to do so and thereupon he proceeded to place the article to Mr. Hume. He had some difficulty in making himself heard so he repeated the article.

The City Hall

Happening in the Municipal World—How Edmonton's Other Cities Are Meeting Civic Problems.

Putting New Rule Into Force.

For something like three hours yesterday afternoon the city council was engaged in working out the application of the new rule of taxing the entire cost of all local improvements, and so to make a permanent basis for the city.

Each individual piece of work to be done this year must now be paid for out of the current year's revenue, and the cost apportioned wherever possible.

Nearly all of these projected improvements will have to be re-adapted in order to bring them under the new order of things. The new rule was adopted by the council a week ago.

Cuts More to Get Light Back.

On the recommendation of Superintendent Robertson, however, the slotters at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon decided to alter the rule for re-estimating light connections where these have been made for projects not yet started.

In future it will be cut delinquent electric light users one dollar to get the light back again, which is just double the former fee.

Advices Small Market Building. The city council has decided to make a committee to take up at its meeting the drawing up of plans for the new market building.

Superintendent Robertson, of the police department, has been appointed to the committee. The work to be started as soon as possible.

Two Tenders for Grading. But two tenders for grading to be done this year in the city have been received by the city commissioners.

One is from T. W. Griffin and the other from the city's construction department. Both tenders have been referred to the city engineer for a recommendation and report.

Obituary News. Mr. Whitelaw, medical officer of health, has a new organ on his hands because of a habit of wearing out. This time it is the uniform worn by employees of the health department.

When the uniforms were first supplied, the city provided only a portion of the cost. Mr. Whitelaw has been under the impression that the city supplies brand new suits, while in other departments only part of the cost is borne by the city.

New Quarters for Relief Officer. City Relief Officer T. R. Turnbull is beginning to fear that his department will have to spend the night camped on the street one of these fine days, if the commissioners or somebody else does not find new quarters for the department.

The civic relief officer has to vacate the present premises at 355 Jasper St. by the end of this month, and he thinks it would be a good idea for the new address to be determined so that it may become known before the offices actually are moved.

C.P.R. Has a New Assistant. Having received assurances that the Dominion government will forward its subsidy toward the cost of constructing the high-level bridge, after it is completed and official inspection made, the Canadian Pacific will continue its new expansion.

Having been made an express by whom, and to whom, the provincial government will pay the sum of $17,600 that it promised the city.

Mayor Albert is to supply the company with the required infrastructure in order to get the street in the C.P.R. head office.

Club Wants a Home. The newly organized Edmonton Civic Club is looking for a home. It is drawn from the ranks of the city and is not an exclusive club house.

What is a club without a home? The officers asked themselves. So a search was made and as a result the club is now asking the city commissioners if it may be permitted to rent two houses owned by the city.

These are located at 7th and 1st Avenue. The officers are on the site of the proposed playground in the city, and have referred to Parks Superintendent Von Auerbach to see what he thinks of allowing the Civic Club to do so.

Talking of Terms. Master plans phase copy, spring is so very much in the Edmonton air.

La Dine
NON-RUSTABLE
CORSET

Before and after your 30th birthday—watch your figure—

Today's fashions enhance the necessity of skilful corseting to disguise where it is helping nature,—for the styles prescribe a natural seeming figure, an almost corsetless effect, and this result is most successfully attained by this year's models of the famous D. & A. and La Dine Corsets.

D. & A. and La Dine Corsets, thanks to absence of darts and splendid manufacturing facilities sell at from $1.00 to $1.00 less per pair than imported ones and being made specially for Canadian Women they give more comfort and longer wear. There is a model for every figure. Our catalogue—sent free on request—will give you to choose the best for yours.

these days that already the tennis clothes are coming from the winter stores. C. P. Roberts, of the First Presbyterian Temple Club, has written the city commissioners as to whether that organization will be able to rent sufficient ground for tennis courts this year. The matter has been referred to the parks superintendent.

Life Association Grant. Considerable interest has been expressed by the commission board to deal with the request of the Alberta Life Association for a grant of $100,000 toward the annual show. Last year the city gave the association $100.

Exciting Adventure for Police Officers. In the manum manuscript of the city detectives one night this week, there was involuntarily pulled out an act which would have served very well as a head-line for any variety show. The police officers, who were on duty, heard a loud cry of "murder!" and immediately made their way to the scene.

On Tuesday night, Detectives Clarke, McLean and Clarke were on duty in the office, smoking the pipe of peace, and waiting for a waiting telephone bell, when a loud cry of "murder!" was heard. The officers immediately made their way to the scene.

It is understood that the results of the investigation will be forwarded to the justice of the peace. Whether the magnificent specimens that were heavily secured behind the scene of the crime, or whether they are attached to the school of Pediatrics, has not been determined at present, but no doubt a report will be received in due course.

By intuition, perhaps, more than anything else, he drew his revolver, Clarke did the same and McLean followed suit. But, fearless as the officers were, they were not prepared for the sight that met their eyes. The three men trembled. Had they been temporarily transported into the spirit world?

Then the overcast passed, it faded, stopped at a point. No longer was there a scene of horror. Pergration was causing from every one of the three men, a plucked up courage to investigate. Clarke produced his electric flashlight and the three men, who were on duty, made a close investigation with their standing guard with their revolvers.

DISASTER TO DESTROYER IN NORTH SEA

66 of Crew of German Torpedo Boat Destroyer Lose Their Lives.

LITTLE CRAFT CUT IN TWO BY BIG CRUISER

Commander Misestimated Distance in Attempting to Cross Bows of Battleship.

Hillegoland, Germany, March 5.—Sixty-six of the crew of the German torpedo boat "S. 113" were drowned when the little vessel was rammed by the cruiser York in the North Sea last night. Among the dead are the commander of the torpedo boat, Lieutenant Koch, and his first officer. The German and English destroyers of the crew were saved. "The torpedo boat sank immediately."

"S. 113" was returning during the night from maneuvers in which it had participated with the German fleet. The cruiser was on a mission to destroy the torpedo boat.

The destroyers attempted to pass through the icebergs in the columns of searchlights. The latter were steaming ahead at full speed. The commander of the "S. 113" calculated the distance between his boat and the cruiser York as half the distance between the two destroyers. The York signalled the accident to other vessels of the fleet, which slowly dawned and crashed into the little vessel, smashing her searchlights in all directions. The German destroyers from all the vessels and succeeded in picking up two of the officers and fifteen of the crew of the sunken destroyer.

WEALTHY NEW YORKER IN PERIL FROM FIRE

Dr. W. S. Webb Rescued From Sick Chamber When Fire Occurred in Home.

New York, March 5.—Dr. W. S. Webb, famous man and financier, who has been ill for some time, was rescued today from his private sick chamber when a fire broke out in the second story of his home in Fifth avenue, near Fifty-third street. The fire started in his sick chamber, which was reached by a man who had taken to his bed. He was taken to the home of his son, Mr. Webb, who was in the home, when it was learned that the fire, which caused the death of about a dozen people, had reached the living room.

Only two weeks ago John B. Rockefeller bought from him Dr. W. S. Webb the residence in which fire occurred today. Dr. Webb was 72 years old. Mr. Rockefeller purchased the property, which was a wedding gift to Mrs. Webb by her father, the late William H. Vanderbilt, to prevent her passing to her own home, and that of his son in the year of the Webb family business or apartment building.

YOUNG MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE IN HIS SLEEP

Remarkable Case Reported From Doncaster—Victim a Son of a Medical Ecstasy at Doncaster.

London, March 5.—A fine, muscular young fellow, "fond of life," as his grieving mother told the coroner, committed suicide in his sleep, the remarkable case being reported from Doncaster.

The lad's name was Thistle, eighteen years old, more than six feet high, and was a somnambulist. Alone in his bedroom, perhaps lured by some leering dream, he arose in his sleep and opened his window, and, making a noise of his necktie.

Perhaps he awoke too late to release himself from the twisted coil that choked out his life. If he struggled, his mother, who was nearby, did not awaken. When she went to arouse him in the morning she found him dead. She told the coroner that she saw him when in his sleep he carried his necktie to the window and shut and killed his wife as he went to sleep in bed. When awakened he knew absolutely nothing of what had happened.

Medical evidence at the inquest showed that a sleeper may, unknown to himself, commit a crime as significant as murder. The case was cited at a medical conference in Washington, D. C. One night in 1898 he dreamed a burglar was in his room, and he arose in his sleep, and shot and killed his wife as he went to sleep in bed. When awakened he knew absolutely nothing of what had happened.

Education in India.

Cuttack, India.—The government of India has just addressed a letter to the local governments in India, in which it outlines the resolutions carried at the annual conference on European education, and invites the opinions of provincial administrations. The Indian government states the opinion in the compulsory education proposal, and to the university art colleges, but agrees to higher remuneration for teachers, adding that a new government training school for teachers is to be built at Bangalore.

THE COLLIE AND COP WITH CHARMED LIVES.—This policeman, who "points duty," or traffic direction, on one of Toronto's busiest corners, has recently had his voluntary assistant, a sagacious little dog named "Buster," who regularly takes up his station with the policeman at the intersection of the corners during the busiest hours of the day, and with remarkable agility dodges the cars—Buster knows who owns the dog, or who feeds him—He has become quite a landmark.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER IN COAST ROOMING HOUSE

Henry Haskell, Bricklayer, Is Shot Down by Unknown Assassin, Who Is Supposed to Have Tried to Rob Him in His Room.

By Bulletin Special Writer.

Vancouver, Mar. 4.—Henry Haskell, 25 years of age and single, a bricklayer by trade, was murdered early this morning by an unknown assassin in a rooming-house at 824 Jackson avenue. His people live in Seattle, but their address there is not known. The police believe that Haskell was killed by a man who had taken to his bed. He was taken to the home of his son, Mr. Webb, who was in the home, when it was learned that the fire, which caused the death of about a dozen people, had reached the living room.

When she went to arouse him in the morning she found him dead. She told the coroner that she saw him when in his sleep he carried his necktie to the window and shut and killed his wife as he went to sleep in bed. When awakened he knew absolutely nothing of what had happened.

Medical evidence at the inquest showed that a sleeper may, unknown to himself, commit a crime as significant as murder. The case was cited at a medical conference in Washington, D. C. One night in 1898 he dreamed a burglar was in his room, and he arose in his sleep, and shot and killed his wife as he went to sleep in bed. When awakened he knew absolutely nothing of what had happened.

Education in India.

Cuttack, India.—The government of India has just addressed a letter to the local governments in India, in which it outlines the resolutions carried at the annual conference on European education, and invites the opinions of provincial administrations. The Indian government states the opinion in the compulsory education proposal, and to the university art colleges, but agrees to higher remuneration for teachers, adding that a new government training school for teachers is to be built at Bangalore.

GERMAN ARMY BUDGET GENERALLY UNPOPULAR

Levy on Property for Increase in Army Is Not Well Received—Government Expansive Expenditures.

By Bulletin Special Writer.

London, March 5.—The Times' Berlin correspondent says: "Public opinion in Germany is occupied almost exclusively with speculations about the extraordinary levy on property by which it is proposed to cover the initial cost of the new increases in the German army. It is, however, practically impossible to form an opinion about the public reception of these extraordinary proposals. To draw the line between genuine expressions of opinion and inflated speculations is difficult. Proposals Unpopular.—"All general impressions are that the government proposals are rather unpopular and regarded with much suspicion in financial quarters and in national political circles, but reason for fear effective parliamentary opposition."

The "government is now and none too soon devoting itself to the difficult task of explaining to the German public that the demands are necessary."

Ann Against Italian Nations.—"The Cologne Gazette" published today a long telegram from Berlin. The gist of the message is that the downfall of the Italian empire and the rise of the Italian states have created not only a new situation as a prospect, but that the German people are called upon to face it. There has been a shifting of the balance of power in Europe, and it is by no means certain that the German people are called upon to face it. RED DEER SIXTH CITY IN ALBERTA

Municipal Committee Gives Approval to Application For City Status

PRESENT POPULATION ESTIMATED AT 4,000

Bill Provides For Inclusion of Outside Subdivisions Into City

The municipal committee of the Legislature yesterday gave approval to Red Deer becoming a city, making the sixth city in Alberta. The town had an act before the committee which provides that after the coming into force of the act "the town of Red Deer shall be a city."

Regarding the outside subdivisions, the town has at present a population of about 4,000. The town area covers a section and a half mile.

The bill consisted of three clauses only, the other two referring to the taking of lands into the city limit. Objection was raised to any possibility of scattered residences on outside subdivisions being able to vote a large area, including farm lands into the city, and the committee altered the second clause of the bill to make it read that land to be annexed on the petition of a majority of residents must be subdivided land.

Mr. Charles E. Macleod, Minister of Municipalities, pointed out that a small number of farmers who would be brought on farmers' through their land being taken within town or city limits, and hence annexed.

Lakeview Reports.—The act to incorporate the village of Lakeview, in the county of Wetaskiwin, was held over until W. P. Purfer, the member for Lacrosse, could be present. The members of the board of trustees are seeking incorporation in the act, and the act is now being considered by the committee.

PARLIAMENT SHOULD RETAIN AUTHORITY

To Say When a Railway Shall Be Completed, says the Quebec Chronicle. In Senate—He Opposes Bill Declaring This Power to the Government.

Ottawa, March 4.—In the upper house today Senator Chénouette called the attention of the government to a statement in the Quebec Chronicle that the site of the Quebec bridge had been located at St. Joseph de la Rivière, with entrance fronting on the island of Orleans. The statement was true, Senator Lacombe said, "I told the government would bring down an answer to the question at an early date and that it is best answer I can give."

Mr. George Ross opposed the government's bill from the committee, respecting the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and the intercolonial, not from a desire to be facetious or because he was hostile to the companies.

Parliament should retain power. The bill proposed to place the right to extend the time for construction in the hands of the government, which was by the bill given to the railway companies. The bill was introduced by Mr. George Ross, who is a member of the opposition.

Mr. George Ross stated that in 1911 Parliament had given the government authority to extend the time for completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and the intercolonial, not from a desire to be facetious or because he was hostile to the companies.

To Open Two Streets Across The Grounds of University

Governors of University Agree to Allow City to Open Two More Streets Across Property—Refuse to Permit the Extension of Whyte Avenue.

At a conference of the city commissioners with the board of governors of the University of Alberta, reference to the opening up of several streets through the university grounds. It was decided that Fifth avenue North and Saskatchewan avenue should be opened for traffic. The governors agreed that in extending Fifth avenue North across the grounds the width should be at least 100 feet.
The city engineer is to submit plans.
The arrangement concerning Saskatchewan avenue is that if it is opened through the university grounds it shall be used for light vehicles, automobiles and pedestrians, but not for heavy traffic.

Bishop Budka Guarantees Good Citizenship to Canada

Answers for Satisfaction of Rutenhians Who Remain Loyal to Old Beliefs—Not British Fair Play to Seek to Affirm These Says His Lordship—Leads to Socialism.

His Lordship Bishop Budka, ecclesiastical head of the Rutenhians in Canada, who is at present visiting Edmonton on his diocesan tour, is a slightly built, intellectual looking man. Though not an English scholar, yet his Lordship is well informed when discussing his people, so keen is his interest in them and their welfare, and what he cannot say in English he says in French.

"Do you find your people prospering in Canada?" was the first question asked, to which he promptly answered:

"I do. I have visited each corner of Rutenhian population on my tour, and find the people prospering.
With the result that they are contented with their new home. They are not only assimilated Canadian citizens, but are rapidly falling into Canadian methods and ways of thinking. They are an adaptable people, and, I am convinced, will play a creditable part in the future of Canada."

"Have you completed the organization of your church in the Dominion?"
"Not yet; but we will do so shortly."
His appointment was made by the Pope only a few months ago, but they are now being incorporated throughout the Dominion after the manner of Latin Catholic dioceses, and therefore, those of the Church of England. On my return to Winnipeg I shall continue my administration from headquarters there. Not only will our organization be complete, but with that, we will see the end of the difficulties of our people in church affairs."

Many of the criticisms made on his sides by outside religious to create trouble among my people while the
"I know my people and their characteristics so well that I feel absolutely sure that those who are most loyal to their old beliefs are the best citizens of Canada. They are mostly new to the country, but each year overcome that. Some of our people, alienated from the church and definite belief, have drifted into extreme socialism. I know of their tendencies of railing at the church and the dangerous tenets they hold.
For those I will not be responsible.
Many of them respect the laws of God and man."

Mr. Taft Retires With No Bitterness In His Heart

Ex-President Taft's Good-Bye to Washington Was a Smile—Glad of Opportunity of Serving His Country—Will Retire to Yale to Become a Professor of Law.

Washington, March 4.—William H.
Taft, public servant since he was twenty-one, said farewell to public life today, and became a citizen of the republic that he has served over the seas and throughout the world for so many years that he has almost forgotten when he entered. His good-bye was a smile. A handshake for the members of his cabinet, a hearty "good-bye" to the crowd who heaved the inauguration discomfort to his aid and Mrs. Taft, and the hand and another smile for the people who stood in the crowd and watched his train pull slowly out for the last time.

The last that Washington saw of the twenty-seventh president was the dim outline of a big, unimpaired figure in frock coat and hat, a little away, standing on the rear platform of a private car as it was being driven through the tunnel that leads under the city.

Went to Georgia.

His last glimpse of the city, where four years ago he became chief executive and later a private citizen by the people's will, was from the rear platform of his car across the broad Potomac to where the Washington monument lifted its gray, polished head to be in Georgia, where he plans, as the guest of the city of Atlanta, for three weeks. On March 21st he plans to go north again to New Haven to settle down under the elms of Yale to the peace and quiet of life as a professor of law. He left with no bitterness in his heart, he told friends, but only regret that he had not been given the opportunity to serve.

Cheered Meeting President.

As he was in the inauguration procession, Washington did not get the man, the retiring president, as he was whisked in one of the White House cars from the back of the White House down through the Inquiry Instituted by Riley and Tweedie Dies for Want of Breath

"Investigators" of Hon. Duncan Marshall's Purchase of Stock for Demonstration Farms are Coerced With Ridicule. They now Confess They Had no Grounds for Insinuations.

So far as the inquiry into payments made to Hon. Duncan Marshall for purchase of stock for demonstration farms, started by Harold Riley, Gleichen, and T. M. Tweedie, Calgary, was concerned, it died for want of breath yesterday.

The "investigators" were utterly unable to make any charges against the integrity of the Minister of Agriculture as Harold Riley stated on Tuesday they would. After a great deal of insinuation the two "investigators" absolutely dropped their insinuations yesterday when challenged by Hon. Malcolm McKenzie to make their charges before the proceedings were carried further. Messrs. Tweedie and Riley made an undignified attempt to withdraw from the position which they had taken up, and endeavored to say that all they wished to investigate was the system of bookkeeping in the Government departments.

Only Fishing Trip.
Hon. J. R. Boyle drew from the term "investigators" that they were not in view, but were merely out on a general "fishing expedition."

"They want to fish until the end of this season," said Mr. Boyle, "and then go out, having discovered nothing, and tell the country that they had more time they might have revealed something very dishonorable."

Repudiates Challenge.
Harold Riley refused to have misunderstood Hon. Malcolm McKenzie's challenge at the close of Tuesday's committee proceedings. He stated that he would be prepared to make his charges today. Mr. Boyle did not understand Mr. McKenzie's statement in that way. All he understood was that he was to be prepared to do so, to say what witnesses he wished to have called.

Abandon Their Task.
The "investigators" switched around completely yesterday, abandoning their unfinished inquiry into the accounts advanced made to the Minister of Agriculture for the purpose of buying stock for the demonstration farms, and asked for the production of the minister's traveling expenses, which appeared in the printed public accounts for 1911, on page 21. The committee was called to meet at Messrs. Riley's and Tweedie's request for eleven o'clock, but did not meet until after twelve.

"Anybody could see," said Mr. McKenzie, "that there was no anxiety to get a meeting of this committee. It is not quite clear that they are merely putting up a bluff to hide the fact that you have made a fuss without having any ground for it."

Mr. Riley made the frank but belated admission that he had no ground for any insinuations against the Minister of Agriculture. "This is not an investigation as to the honor and integrity of the Minister of Agriculture," said Mr. Riley. "It is merely to find out anything we can in connection with the department."

Insinuations Volunteered.
"This investigation," said Hon. Malcolm McKenzie, "starting with insinuations that something wrong had been done and a section of the press has certainly given the public to understand that there was a likelihood that something wrong was going to be discovered in connection with this investigation into payments made to Hon. Duncan Marshall. The press has not confined its insinuations to the manner of bookkeeping in the department as Messrs. Tweedie and Riley would now endeavor to have us believe."

Mr. Boyle further told the members of the opposition that their only object was to endeavor to pass to the country that they were discovering something dishonorable in the public accounts. At the same time they avoided making any specific charges and consequently gave the Minister of Agriculture the opportunity of making any explanation.

"If you are prepared to say that any of that money was improperly appropriated by the minister to his

How a Well-Meaning Critic Solved a Vexatious and Annoying Scientific Problem

A New Era Dawns for Alberta Owing to the Energetic Efforts of Harold Riley, the Member for Gleichen, and one of the Bulwarks of Our Provincial Well-Being.

Critics are an essential and integral part of our civilization. We could not do without them. They are indispensable.

It is true that Dillard once said that critics are the failures of life; and there are also those well-remembered lines of Byron's:

Seek roses in December, ice in June, Constancy in wind, or corn in Believe a woman, or an epitaph,
Or any other thing that's false, before
You trust in criticism.

But then, Byron and Dillard, estimable gentlemen in their way, lived in the eighteenth century, and their modern and up-to-date age, or they would have heard of the Seven Pipe Fitter Critics of His Majesty's Opposition in the Alberta Legislature, and revised their opinions accordingly.

If the province stands four-square to all the winds that blow, if it has successfully withstood the onslaughts of time, there can be no other reason for its solidity than that of the patient, painstaking, relentless criticism of Leader Edward McIsaac and his followers.

If the journals of the House do nothing else, they will prove that assertion. Look them over, and there you will find, for instance, in black and white, that all who may read, Harold Riley's criticism of the Government with regard to its telephone policy, and his complaint that telephone poles, a whole string of them, own use, this committee will be in a position to investigate the charges and the minister will know what witnesses to call to assist the committee in clearing the matter up."

Have No Reply.

Neither Mr. Tweedie nor Mr. Riley had anything to say in reply to this, but retired behind further questions relative to a shipment of cattle from the east, which met with a wreck on the C.P.R. at Melton, Manitoba, and in which twelve out of thirteen cattle shipped, were killed by the loss for non-care.

was borne jointly by the C.P.R., by the shippers and by the province, the shipment being uninsured.

The further proceedings of the committee fell very flat, the members of the opposition asking questions as to what became of the dead cattle, what are they worth, and whether they were fresh when they were shipped. Messrs. Riley and Tweedie were covered with ridicule, and in their attempt to prolong the "inquiry," merely to save their faces, were the butt of good humored jokes from other members of the committee.

A motion was made by Geo. Howdley, Okotoks, that the committee adjourn for lunch.

Hon. Malcolm McKenzie: "I think this committee at this stage of this non-sensical investigation, should be requested that the investigation has died for want of breath."

(Laughter.)

On the suggestion of W. H. Cushman, senior member for Calgary, it was decided that now the investigation had been cleared of personal insinuations and charges, the committee get "take up the consummation of the system of bookkeeping followed by the departments. For this purpose the committee will meet again on Friday."

were planted east of Calgary before the wires were strung.

That is a complaint worth while.

It shows how much we are behind the times in this neck-of-the-woods province of Alberta. It is a striking evidence of the way the Government is squandering money in attempting those at the wrong point of the compass. Where would the province get "take up the consummation of the system of bookkeeping followed by the departments. For this purpose the committee will meet again on Friday."

Telephone poles are only insinuations, things after all, and do not understand the indignity to which they were subjected by the Government telephone men. But in the other and older provinces, where they have real telephone experts, telephone poles are treated in a more respectful fashion, if one may believe Mr. Riley. The science of telephone has made rapid progress during the last few years, although the noise of the wires has not been reduced. It is apparent to the laymen, however, that the practice of first stringing the wires, and then putting the poles in place, is the only logical and practicable thing after all, or else how would the common, ordinary laborer know how far apart to place the poles?

And in this instance he has saved the situation. He has been so getting into deep water. We know now what was the matter. That irritating buzz on the long-distance wire that has puzzled us so long, long explained. The wires should have been strung before the poles were erected. It is a very simple remedy after all.

ARABS IN TRIPOLI OPEN HOSTILITIES

London, March 4.—According to despatches from Kair-Yenfin, a town about 70 miles from Tripoli, the independent Arab government has commenced hostilities against the Italians. It is declared that Sheikh el-Bitar has arrived in the country of the Orifolia tribe with 4,000 well-armed men. From the coast country 2,500 men have arrived before Kair and have made successful attacks against the Italians, who have suffered losses in men and cattle. By the independent Arab government of Tripoli appears to be meant the organization established by Kair-Yenfin by Haroun Bey, when the Turks withdrew on the conclusion of peace with Italy. Haroun Bey had considerable influence with the Arabs and when the Turks made peace with Italy he endeavored to come to an understanding with them, whereby the Italians should rate unopposed along the coast, but should not interfere with the tribes of the hinterland, which he desired to remain independent. The Italians, however, are in a strong position to resist any uprising except it be of a widespread nature, having 4,000 men at Kair, not far from Kair-Yenfin, and through the Arab chiefs of the interior are in a state of rebellion, the Arab chiefs of Tripoli province they have already sworn allegiance to Italy.

Senseless Run on City and District Bank in Montreal

Every One of the 147,000 Depositors Will be Paid if They Want Money.

Montreal, March 5.—With a rush of densely packed humanity, the run on the City and District Bank, which started here yesterday afternoon, started again with renewed fervor when the bank and its thirteen branches throughout the city opened its doors this morning. An array of clerks with bank bills piled high in front of them met the advancing avalanche with smiling faces, counted out bills by the thousands all morning and greeted all comers pleasantly. At the St. Catherine street west branch of the bank the most exciting scenes of all were witnessed. Thousands of people surrounded the building blocking the thoroughfare, and stopping all street car traffic. Policemen fought the crowd back, the doors were closed for a time and excitement reigned high. When quiet was restored the crowds were let in by installments. By noon today the run on the head office of the bank had dwindled down perceptibly. The sight of the bank directors inviting the people in with smiling faces, and of the paying tellers handing out thousands of dollars with complaisance, staggered the panic-stricken crowd and hundreds went to other wickets and redeposited their amounts.

"It is absolutely senseless this run," declared officials of the Bank of Montreal. The latter is prepared to back the City and District to any extent in this matter.

"It is a panic calamity," declared Hon. J. A. Cairnes, president of the City and District Bank, "many of these poor people will be ruined when they get outside. But we cannot argue with 147,000 depositors. One must pay them and we will pay them to the last cent if necessary."

PRESIDENT WILSON NAMES CABINET

Washington, March 5.—President Wilson sent the names of his cabinet to the senate today for confirmation, which was as follows:
Secretary of State—William Jennings Bryan.
Secretary of the Treasury—William G. McAdoo, of New York.
Secretary of War—Lindley M. Garrison, of New Jersey.
Attorney General—James M. McInerney, of Tennessee.
Postmaster General—Benjamin Franklin Davis, of Texas.
Secretary of the Navy—Joseph Daniels, of North Carolina.
Secretary of the Interior—Franklin K. Lane, of California.
Secretary of Commerce—Reuben L. Tamm, of New York.
Secretary of Labor—William B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania.

PAPERS PAY TRIBUTE TO WILSON'S ADDRESS

"Echoes of His Noble Words Will Bring to the Old World in Its Mad Quest a Realistic Better Thing and Manlier Strivings."

London, March 5.—The London papers pay, for the most part, a tribute of admiration to the earnest and lofty tone of President Wilson's address.

The Morning Post says: "It remains to be seen whether President Wilson is a great statesman. But at least it may be said that his address has statesmanlike qualities. His thesis is no less remarkable because not punctuated. It strikes a new note in American politics of what, otherwise, we call 'President reform.'"

The Graphic says: "Every thoughtful man will wish the President good luck. Echoes of his noble address will bring to the Old World of ours, in its mad pursuit of wealth and pleasure, international uncharitableness, belated schemes and military holocausts, welcome reminders of better things and manlier strivings."

The United States must not heartily congratulate upon having such a true Democrat and such a fearless statesman at its head," says the Daily Chronicle. "And when some of the greatest nations seem to be making a mockery of humanity, the Daily Mail should echo far beyond the American shores."

The Daily News says: "President Wilson has set up a fine ideal, and, like a brave and honest man, he has delivered himself into the hands of his judges by giving them a measure by which to test his loyalty to his cause and his fitness to undertake it."

Neither War Nor Riot--

FIGHT BEING WAGED WITH PERSISTENCE

Liberals in Detachments 20 Strong Continue War Against Naval Bill.

NO SIGN OF BREAK BY EITHER PARTY

Western Farmers Do Not Approve Contribution Policy Declares McNutt.

Ottawa, March 5.—The grim struggle in the House of Commons over the government's naval proposals is still going on without any indication of weakening on either side. The opposition side of twenty men keep replacing one another with the regularity of clockwork. When one speaker is through, another is ready to take his place and the continuous discussion of the bill goes on without anything to suggest that the members are tiring of the game.

The task of the ministerial members is perhaps not such a pleasant one, because they have to sit for long hours listening to criticism of the measure to which they cannot reply without aiding the designs of the opposition.

Reveals New Trick.
During the early morning hours until five o'clock the debate ran along smoothly and a breeze of considerable dimensions blew up. W. P. Kay, of Misquisset, spoke from one to two o'clock, and was followed by O. D. Curran, of Gloucester, N.B., one of the long-distance orators of the House, who kept up the talk for a couple of hours.

Mr. Ireland, of Beauséjour, one of the ablest members in the left of the Speaker, followed and succeeded in winning matters up a bit. His statements were interrupted from Hon. J. D. Hagen, Major Curry, H. B. Ames and others, with the result that there was some rapid cross-talking and laughter on both sides of the House.

Dr. Pugsley's Hard Hit.
Shortly after four o'clock the liberal side, under the leadership of Dr. Pugsley, was replaced by Hon. Mr. Pugsley and his band of speakers.

Some time later the trouble commenced to develop. Dr. Pugsley said that Mr. Hagen had promised to give the House some information relating to cost of building a 24,000 ton battleship in the United States. Mr. Hagen informed the House that the cost of construction was $125 per ton more than the cost in Great Britain. His information was not correct in the United States instead of being correct in Great Britain.

Mr. Hagen, he asserted, should give his authority. He added that Premier Borden had placed erroneous information before the House.

Refuses Information.
Mr. Hagen, replied that the Secretary of War for the United States was the authority. He did not propose to give any further information at the present time.

Mr. Pugsley: "That is no excuse." Mr. Hagen: "I didn't give any excuse, and I don't propose to give any." Mr. Pugsley said that the information was necessary to the discussion and the attitude of the Minister was an outrage.

Mr. Hagen: "I have given my answer and I will give no other." Mr. Pugsley: "The Minister has not given an answer."

Chair Protests Hagen.
Mr. Hagen rose to a point of order and J. E. Armstrong, of East Lambton, who was in the chair, ruled that an answer had been given and that it must be accepted.

But Mr. Pugsley persisted in his demand and his remarks were greeted with a cheering cry of "Order!" and "Name him!"

Amidst Liberal applause and Opposition shouts of dissent Mr. Pugsley said: "It is absolutely impossible to speak intelligently on the matter when it is impossible to secure information to which we are entitled."

Hon. T. W. Creighton addressed the chair to rule Mr. Pugsley out of order. The former Minister of Public Works said that he would yield to any proper ruling.

To Hoodwink People.
"But you don't yield," shouted Mr. Hagen.

Mr. Pugsley continued to hold the floor. These faculty estimates have been given," he said, "for the purpose of inducing the Canadian people to speak intelligently on the matter when it is impossible to secure information to which we are entitled."

Hon. T. W. Creighton addressed the chair to rule Mr. Pugsley out of order. The former Minister of Public Works said that he would yield to any proper ruling.

ing the chairman. He raised the point of order that the Minister of Finance, who was leading the House, should accept his statement. Mr. White said he had counted twenty-seven members in the House. The majority for Wright was mistaken about these being no speakers.

Mr. Devlin: "I shall accept the minister's statement, but I would advise him to turn around sooner the next time."

Disturbed By Noise.
Mr. Neely, of Humboldt, was speaking at eight o'clock. When Hon. Robert Rogers arrived to relieve the Minister of Finance.

A little later Hon. Geo. P. Graham complained because of the noise which his aid were being made by Messrs. Bennett, Smith and McLean.

"I have never seen such conduct in a parliamentary chamber," he asserted.

Dr. Neely said that noise did not disturb him. Conservative members could not make speeches, he said, and they should not be denied the privilege of making noise.

Opposed To Contribution.
Mr. Neely maintained that people of the Dominion as a whole were opposed to the idea of contribution. He challenged the government to go to the country. Premier Borden came into the chamber shortly before ten o'clock, but found the proceedings rather slow, and retired shortly after.

On arrival, he was greeted with deaf clapping by the Conservatives. Mr. Lapointe, of Kamourask, who had been speaking in French for two hours, dispersed from his throne long enough to wish the premier a cordial good morning.

At ten o'clock Mr. Devlin, of New Brunswick, continued the debate. He surprised the members by addressing the House in French. He raised the point of order that clause 2 of the bill is unconstitutional, but Mr. Nickel, of Kingston, who was in the chair, said they could not rule it out until it had been declared unconstitutional. He could not be expected, he averred, to decide important constitutional questions.

Farmers Opposed to Contribution.
At eleven o'clock Thomas McNutt of Salt Lake, took the floor. He spoke for about an hour and was probably the longest speech ever made by him in the House. He said that the farmers of the west do not believe that the necessity exists for the proposed contribution. They would be much more inclined to support a policy which would provide for the marketing of their product on the way to market.

Frankly at 12 o'clock Hon. Frank Oliver, the captain of one of the Liberal shifts, relieved Hon. William Pugsley, who had been leading the Liberals for four o'clock in the morning. A few minutes later Premier Borden came into the House, for the second time and engaged in conversation with one of his supporters.

Conservative Say Nothing.
Hon. Borden, who was in the House at four o'clock, did not speak. He was engaged in conversation with Mr. Pugsley. Mr. Borden said that the good natured interchange with Mr. Pugsley had been in session since three o'clock on Monday, and the Conservatives said nothing. It was clear that they had lost confidence in their premier.

"You are a great joker," remarked one of the Conservatives.

"The country will not appreciate the silent jokes on the other side of the House," retorted Mr. Borden.

He went on to say that this was the most important measure that had come before the House since the N.A. act and accused Premier Borden of pettifoggery arguments in endeavoring to stop a good bill.

Mr. Borden had already yielded at his clause under discussion. "What a coward," Mr. Borden would know that no clause of a contract or bill could be considered apart from the rest of the bill.

Mr. Borden then asked the Premier to state whether his bill provided for a gift annuity or a contribution. In doing so, he had been talking to the Premier for fifteen minutes, but Mr. Borden had said nothing. "What a coward," he did not consider the bill very important.

"I regard it as quite important," said Mr. Borden, "but I do not think it as important as some of the observations made by some of the members on the other side of the House. The policy of the government was, as stated in the bill."

At two o'clock things in the House are still moving along uneventfully, with Hon. Mr. Borden speaking from the Liberal side.

MILITANTS WILL SLAY GOD OF HUMANITY.
London, March 5.—According to the Standard, which has been giving the militant suffrage cause a wide publicity, it is claimed that has any other London paper, the women's part outrages are to be total. It is claimed by the new ones planned in the lower circle of the militant action. Operations are promised that will "savage humanity."

All the great public buildings in London, as at St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, and the British museum, are closed today. Mrs. Pankhurst made a speech at Cannon Street, extracts from which are quoted as evidence that she has broken the unbroken chain of silence which was granted to her last week.
